Ted McLaren has been painting since the age of 10. He graduated from the Ontario College of Art & Design in 1963.

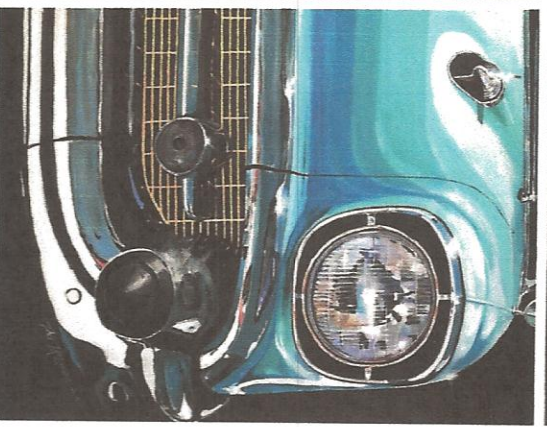

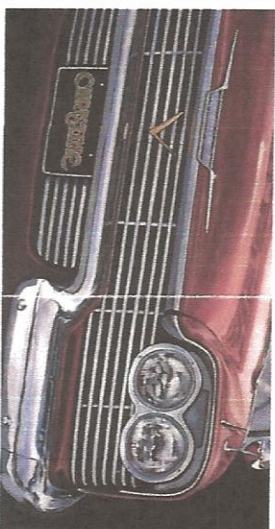

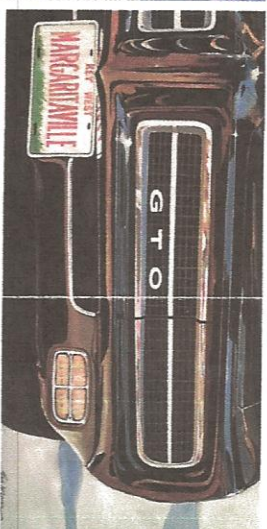

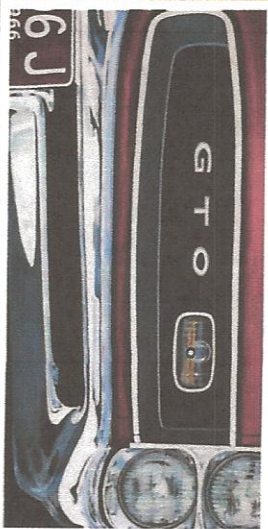

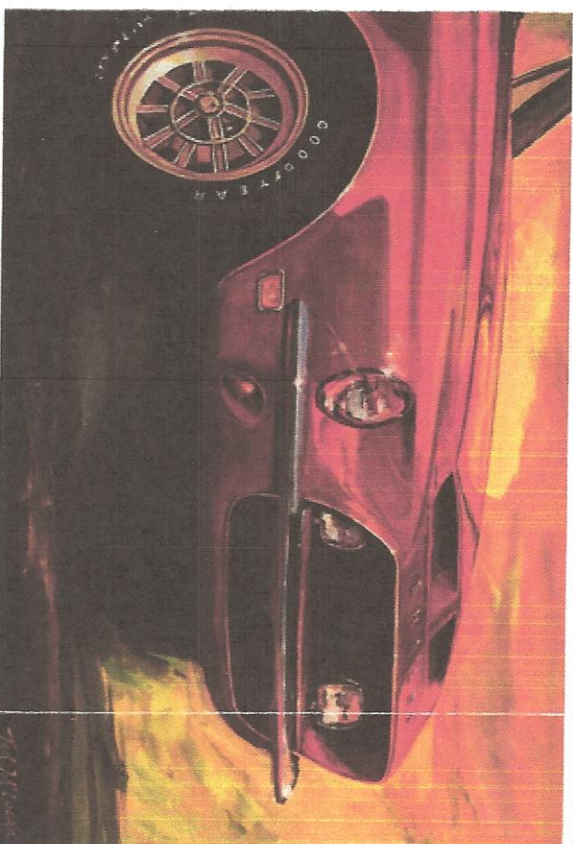

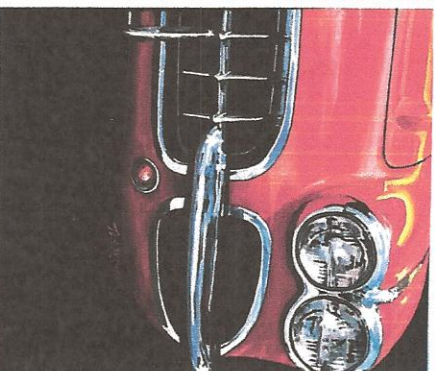

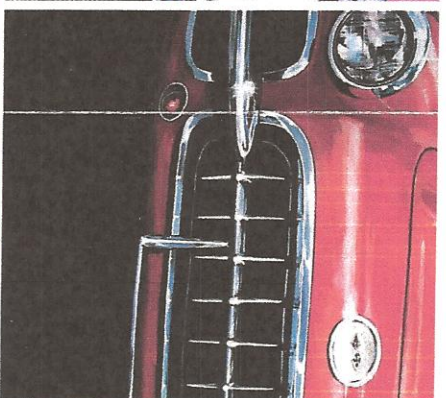

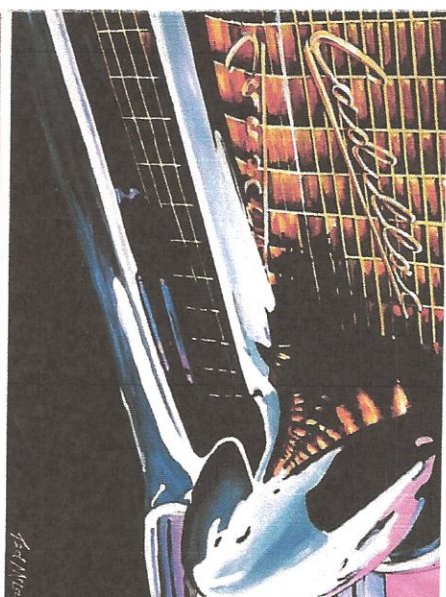

However, while most of his career involved being in the packaging design business, he continued to paint during those years, and sold his work primarily to corporate clients.

Ted worked with Stafford D. Plant, a highly respected Canadian artist, who inspired and encouraged him to develop his skills as a painter. His painting style and subject matter revolved around boats, water, anything southwestern, and of course cars. All types of cars.

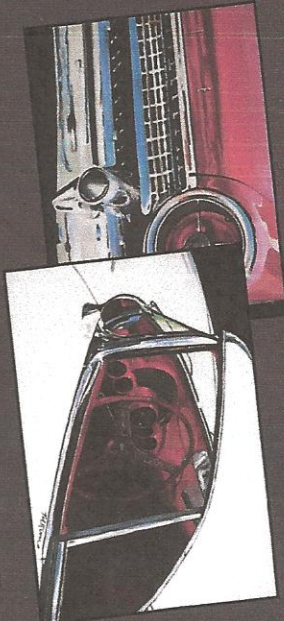

Ted was involved with the restoration of his 64½ Mustang Convertible, which created the inspiration for the first painting of "The Auto Icon Series".

The paintings are typically large in order to maximize visual impact, 36" x 48", using vibrant color and chrome as the basic design elements.

He describes the work as contemporary style featuring a unique composition of a portion of the car, with enough detail, so that a "car person" can identify the make, model, and year of the subject featured.

Commissioned Artwork:

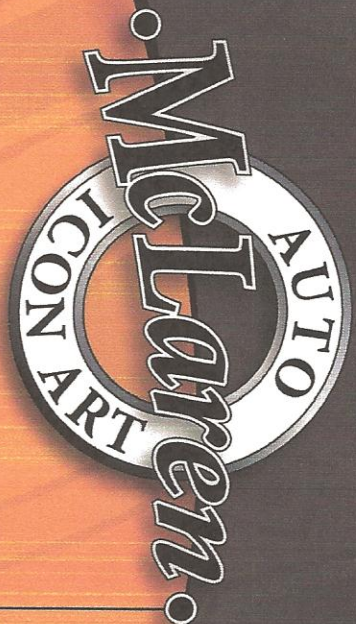

During the 1930's through the 1970's the auto industry produced numerous car designs and models that became "icons" of the era.

While the work featured in this brochure is only a few examples of the automotive "icons", Ted will be available to paint your favorite car subject, on a commission basis.

Meet Ted McLaren: Artist Statement

As an artist who painted various subjects over the years, the Auto-Icon Series began with the purchase and restoration of my '64 1/2 Mustang convertible. Rather than painting the entire auto as subject matter, I like to create unique compositions using parts of the car, such as a head light/grille, or fin and tail light.

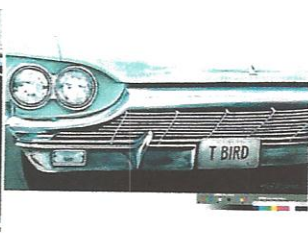

I prefer to paint in a large format which maximizes the visual impact. In addition, I use vibrant colors and chrome as the basic design elements. My goal is simple: to capture the soul of the cars being painted. I want to re-create the 'WOW' factor, everyone gets when they pass one of these classic icons on the highway!
